The Gynecologic Oncology Multidisciplinary Team (MDT) at Karmanos Cancer Institute is committed to providing outstanding and innovative care for patients with cervical, fallopian tube, ovarian, primary peritoneal, uterine (endometrial), vaginal and vulvar cancers, as well as gestational trophoblastic disease. In some cases, we can even rule out what appeared to be a potential cancer diagnosis.

WHEN TO REFER A PATIENT
 Our team collaborates with referring physicians to quickly and accurately treat known and potential gynecologic cancers. Any patient with a gynecologic malignancy will benefit from a consultation, including those with:

- A gynecologic cancer diagnosis needing surgery, radiation and/or chemotherapy
- Signs suspicious of a gynecologic malignancy such as a complex pelvic mass, malignant ascites and/or elevated CA-125
- Vulvar, vaginal or cervical lesions suspicious for malignancy on pelvic exam
- Early cervical cancer interested in fertility-sparing surgery
- Pelvic masses and endometrial cancer interested in minimally invasive surgery
- Recurrent gynecologic cancers being considered for surgery, radiation or chemotherapy
- An interest in clinical trial participation
- Complicated preinvasive disease of the lower genital tract
- A desire to initiate a second opinion
- A personal and/or family history suggestive of hereditary gynecologic cancer

COMPLEX CANCER CARE FOR A COMPLEX DISEASE
 If your patient has been diagnosed with a gynecologic cancer, Karmanos Cancer Institute is among the best cancer centers in the country for treatment of this disease. We know conventional treatments do not always work.

CONTINUITY OF CARE FOR PATIENTS
 Patient referrals can be made by contacting the Gynecologic Oncology Department at (810) 342-8888 or by fax at (810) 342-3835. Referral forms also are available at karmanos.org/flintcancer.
